

1994 Dues Due

The end of another year has come, and it is time to remit your dues. Dues are being decreased to $10.00 Canadian for Canadian addresses, and $10.00 US for US addresses. Please remit cash or cheque payable to 'Paul Burega'. Subscribers who have recently joined are paid up for 1994. If an envelope is enclosed with your newsletter, please remit the $10.00 dues, or I will drop your name from the mailing list. I plan to continue with 5 issues per year for 1994. Now is the time to think about what you can contribute in the way of an article, index, or listing. If you have any suggestions or ideas, please write the editor or the editorial consultant, Ralph Mitchener.

This issue contains an excerpt about George Heriot, Postmaster of Canada, found by Guenter Jansen. Stan MacLeod passed along some pages from "The Bay Phil" which had an article on Popular Stamps. Ralph Mitchener has provided pages from "The Hobbyist" which ran a continuing article by W. R. Ricketts, F.R.P.S.L. which is reproduced in this issue. This series appears to have abruptly ended mid-series. If anyone has any information on the continuation of this series, or its publication elsewhere, please let me know.

In using a computer to write this journal, I have managed to learn a lot more about type and electronic publishing than I ever thought I would. In the beginning, I used bit-mapped fonts, which are the fonts which appear on your computer screen. They come in specific sizes, and if you want other sizes, you end with 'the jaggies', that is, characters which are not formed correctly, and with staircases on the diagonals. This is more apparent when the page is printed. While I was using a postscript laserprinter with my Macintosh, I started using Truetype fonts. These are fonts in which the computer creates the appropriate size bitmap font as they are required. No characters have the jaggies as each character is created from a size independant description. These same descriptions are used to create the characters printed at higher resolution on the laser printer.

I was never interested in postscript fonts, as I thought that they were only useful for the printer, and they did not appear on the screen. You had to have a set of bitmapped fonts for the screen, and when you printed, the spacing of the characters never matched what was on the screen. This meant the paper copy of the journal had line and page breaks in different places than the screen did. This I did not like about postscript, and caused me to exclusively use truetype fonts. From the internet, I managed to get a very good selection of truetype fonts, some of which I have used on personal correspondence. Others are awaiting their use.

In December, I bought a new Macintosh computer, a Centris 610. With it I got a copy of Adobe Type Manager (ATM). This gave me the opportunity to obtain some postscript type 1 fonts from the INTERNET (a computer network spanning the globe that has databases and newsletters on almost any imaginable topic).

One font family that was only available as a postscript font was a set a fraction fonts. This typeface I have used in the Rickettes' article. Adobe Type Manager allows me to use postscript fonts as I would truetype fonts. I can select any size type of a postscript font, and Adobe Type Manager ensures that the font is correctly drawn on the screen. And, as my laser printer is not a postscript printer, Adobe Type Manager correctly draws the postscript fonts on my laser printer, with no jaggies at the higher resolution of the laser printer. I am very pleased with the fraction font, and if anyone is interested in this postscript font, let me know, and I will send you a Macintosh diskette. I don't know if an IBM PC can use the format of the postscript font, but if someone is willing to try, please let me know.

Best wishes to you and your family for the holiday season.

George Heriot: Artist and Postmaster

from The Face of Early Canada by F. St. George Spendlove, Ryerson Press, Toronto, 1958.

RECENT YEARS have seen an awakening of public interest in George Heriot; author, historian, artist and postmaster of Canada. Heriot was born at Haddington, Scotland in 1766, of a well-known Scottish family which had produced James VI's goldsmith— another George Heriot (“Jinglin’ Georgie”), active at the end of the sixteenth century. Heriot entered the Royal Military Academy, Woolwich, about 1786, but did not take up the army as a career. We find him arriving in Quebec about 1792 to take a post in the Paymaster's Department. About 1800 he was given an important appointment as Deputy Postmaster-General of British North America. The appointment was a fortunate one for posterity, since it made it necessary for him to make many journeys to survey the state of postal services in Canada. These journeys have been handed down to us by means of a large number of exquisitely fine water-colour sketches he made of his travels. Heriot was probably the most able water-colourist working in Canada between 1800 and 1816.

Canadian collectors have been surprised and delighted from time to time to come across the beautiful little water-colours of almost jewel-like quality that Heriot made to record scenes and moments. He traveled widely in Canada, and at every stop liked to make a small, finely-painted and completely-finished sketch. In addition to the many finished sketches, he also did six hundred or more very small pictures in the sketch books now contained in the McCord Museum, Montreal. It is not known whether he contemplated using these as the basis for future more ambitious pictures, but it seems probable.

Most of the artists working in Canada in the early period were army officers, many of whom had received their training in drawing at the Royal Military Academy, Woolwich, under Paul Sandby, R.A. Although Sandby was a very good instructor who did not seek to impose uniformity of style and treatment upon his pupils, nevertheless there is an inevitable similarity between the pictures. The training was in military draughtsmanship rather than art; i.e. the representation of objects, scenes and places as they actually were, rather than the making of decorative and pleasing pictures. The military draughtsman was careful and conscientious, probably more so than the artist, since he had a responsibility to live up to.

... Probably Heriot's official journeys were so arranged as to terminate within an hour or two or sundown; with just time enough to make one of those jewel-like and exquisite little sketches which are now a joy to their fortunate possessors.

The usual limits of Heriot's travels in the interests of the Post Office were from Montreal to Niagara and from Quebec to Halifax. As the St. Lawrence River was still the great highway of Canada, most of his travels were by boat. ...

(the rest of the article deals with George Heriot the artist, ed.)

from “The Bay Phil”, volume 14, pp. 67-69

The publication which eventually bore the above name made its initial appearance in January, 1938. The first issues were in mimeographed form, were identified as a “Bulletin”, and were headed “POPULAR STAMPS at popular prices”.

The editor and publisher was E. C. Werner of Alton, Ontario. Mr. Werner was a stamp dealer, and the publication was merely his trade list with occasional comments on some of his offerings.

There were seven issues of this version of “POPULAR STAMPS” in 1938, the initial year. None of them bore a “Volume No.” or an “Issue No.”.

Mr. Werner inaugurated “The Rural Canadian Stamp Club” in 1939; and, at the same time, arranged to have an expanded version of his “Bulletin” printed and published by A. L. McCready, publisher of a weekly newspaper, the “COBDEN SUN” at Cobden, Ontario. The name was shorted to “POPULAR STAMPS”, and more articles were carried; but in function and format this version of “POPULAR STAMPS” really was just the house organ of “The Rural Canadian Stamp Club” and, to a substantially continuing extent, a merchandising vehicle for Mr. Werner's stamp offerings.

There were eleven issues of this second version of “POPULAR STAMPS” in the 1939-40 period—six identified as “Volume II” - (Nos. 1 to 6), and five as “Volume III” - (Nos. 1 to 5).

Mr. Werner transferred ownership of "POPULAR STAMPS" to Mr. McCready at the end of 1940. This marked completion of the transition from its original status as a dealer's "Bulletin" to an independent philatelic publication devoted largely to the BNA area of the hobby.

Mr. McCready's first issue as owner-publisher made its appearance in February, 1941, identified as "Volume IV" - (No. 1). Publication continued until March, 1958, "Volume XXI" - (No. 2), when the onset of Mr. McCready's final illness necessitated suspension.

The first issue of "Popular Stamps" to bear a "Whole No." was volume IX No. 8 (September, 1946) which was identified as "Whole Number 82". The "Whole Numbering" had been counted from the first Werner issue in 1938, and was continued in sequence until suspension in March, 1958—Volume XXI - No. 2 (Whole No. 204).

The forerunners of "POPULAR STAMPS", the E. C. Werner "Bulletins" (price lists) consisted of a single sheet of 8 1/2 x 11 paper, made up into a four-page leaflet. The October "issue" included a comment to the effect that there had not been an issue for August or September.

Particulars of the origin of the "reissues" are obscure. They are on a pale green paper as opposed to the white paper of the originals; and, except for the addition of the words "The reissue of" at upper left on the masthead, reportedly are identical to E. C. Werner's original "Bulletins".

The true originals of the E. C. Werner Bulletins are extremely rare, but occasional singles do turn up. The reissues are also scarce; but, when encountered, they frequently are in the complete set of seven.

Vol. I - size 5 1/2 x 8 1/2 (7 issues) - was only a price list "Popular Stamps at Popular Prices" - mimeographed and distributed by a stamp dealer, Mr. E. C. Werner, Alton, Ontario.

Vol. II & III - size 6 x 9 entitled "Popular Stamps - A Bulletin Dedicated to Members of The Rural Canadian Stamp Club by E. C. Werner, Alton, Ontario". Printed was by Mr. A. L. McCready, Cobden, Ontario. Philatelic articles were included in these two volumes; but, in reality, they were a "house organ" for Mr. Werner's stamp dealing enterprise.

Vol. IV - At this point, Mr. McCready purchased the publication from Mr. Werner and transformed it into an independent stamp journal entitled simply "Popular Stamps". Vol. IV, No. 1, February, 1941, was the initial issue in the new format. Publication continued until March, 1958 (vol. XXI, no. 2, issue no. 204).

INTRODUCTION

There have been published several catalogues or lists of the stamp publications of Canada.

The first was Mr. J. K. Tiffany's "The Philatelic Library" published in 1874 at St. Louis (150 copies, privately printed and now very rare). The Canada publications are catalogued with those of the United States under the heading "American"; all known publications of all kinds are mentioned. This work of Mr. Tiffany will always be of the greatest value to literature collectors, on account of the information contained concerning the early publications of stamp collecting.

The next list of importance was also compiled by Mr. Tiffany, entitled "The Stamp Publications of Canada" found in "The American Philatelist" journal of the American Philatelic Association, Vol. VII, No. 1 (Jan. 1893) page 1. This lists the periodicals, with notes concerning other publications, and continues the work to December, 1892.

Mr. E. B. Jones' "The Comprehensive Check list of all Philatelic Papers and Magazines published in the United States and Canada from 1864 to Jan. 1st, 1895" with "Jones' Check List of Philatelic Journals, British Colonies" 1st edition, 1904; "Jones' Check List of Philatelic Journals, Great Britain and Colonies" Part II, a second edition of British Colonies, 1907, brings the work down to this date as far as the periodicals are concerned.

But it is to Mr. E. D. Bacon (who has had the Earl of Crawford's library in charge for a number of years) that we owe our sincerest thanks for the greatest of all works: "The Catalogue of the Library of the Earl of Crawford, K. T." in which is listed everything that the library contains and a want list of all others known. Separate works are listed through December, 1908 and periodicals through December, 1906. To this great catalogue I am indebted for most information that I have obtained concerning the Canadian publications not in my library.

Editor's Note—It gives us great pleasure to commence the publication of Mr. Ricketts' valuable work on Canadian Philatelic Literature dealing with a subject in which many of us are deeply interested. A generous instalment will appear next month, and monthly well through the year. Part I is necessarily incomplete, and we will appreciate information as to additions to the list of price lists, etc., and to have our attention called to omissions, errors or new relevant matter. It is quite possible that this catalogue, revised and brought up to date, will be later published in book form.
