

And Another New Perfin Reported.

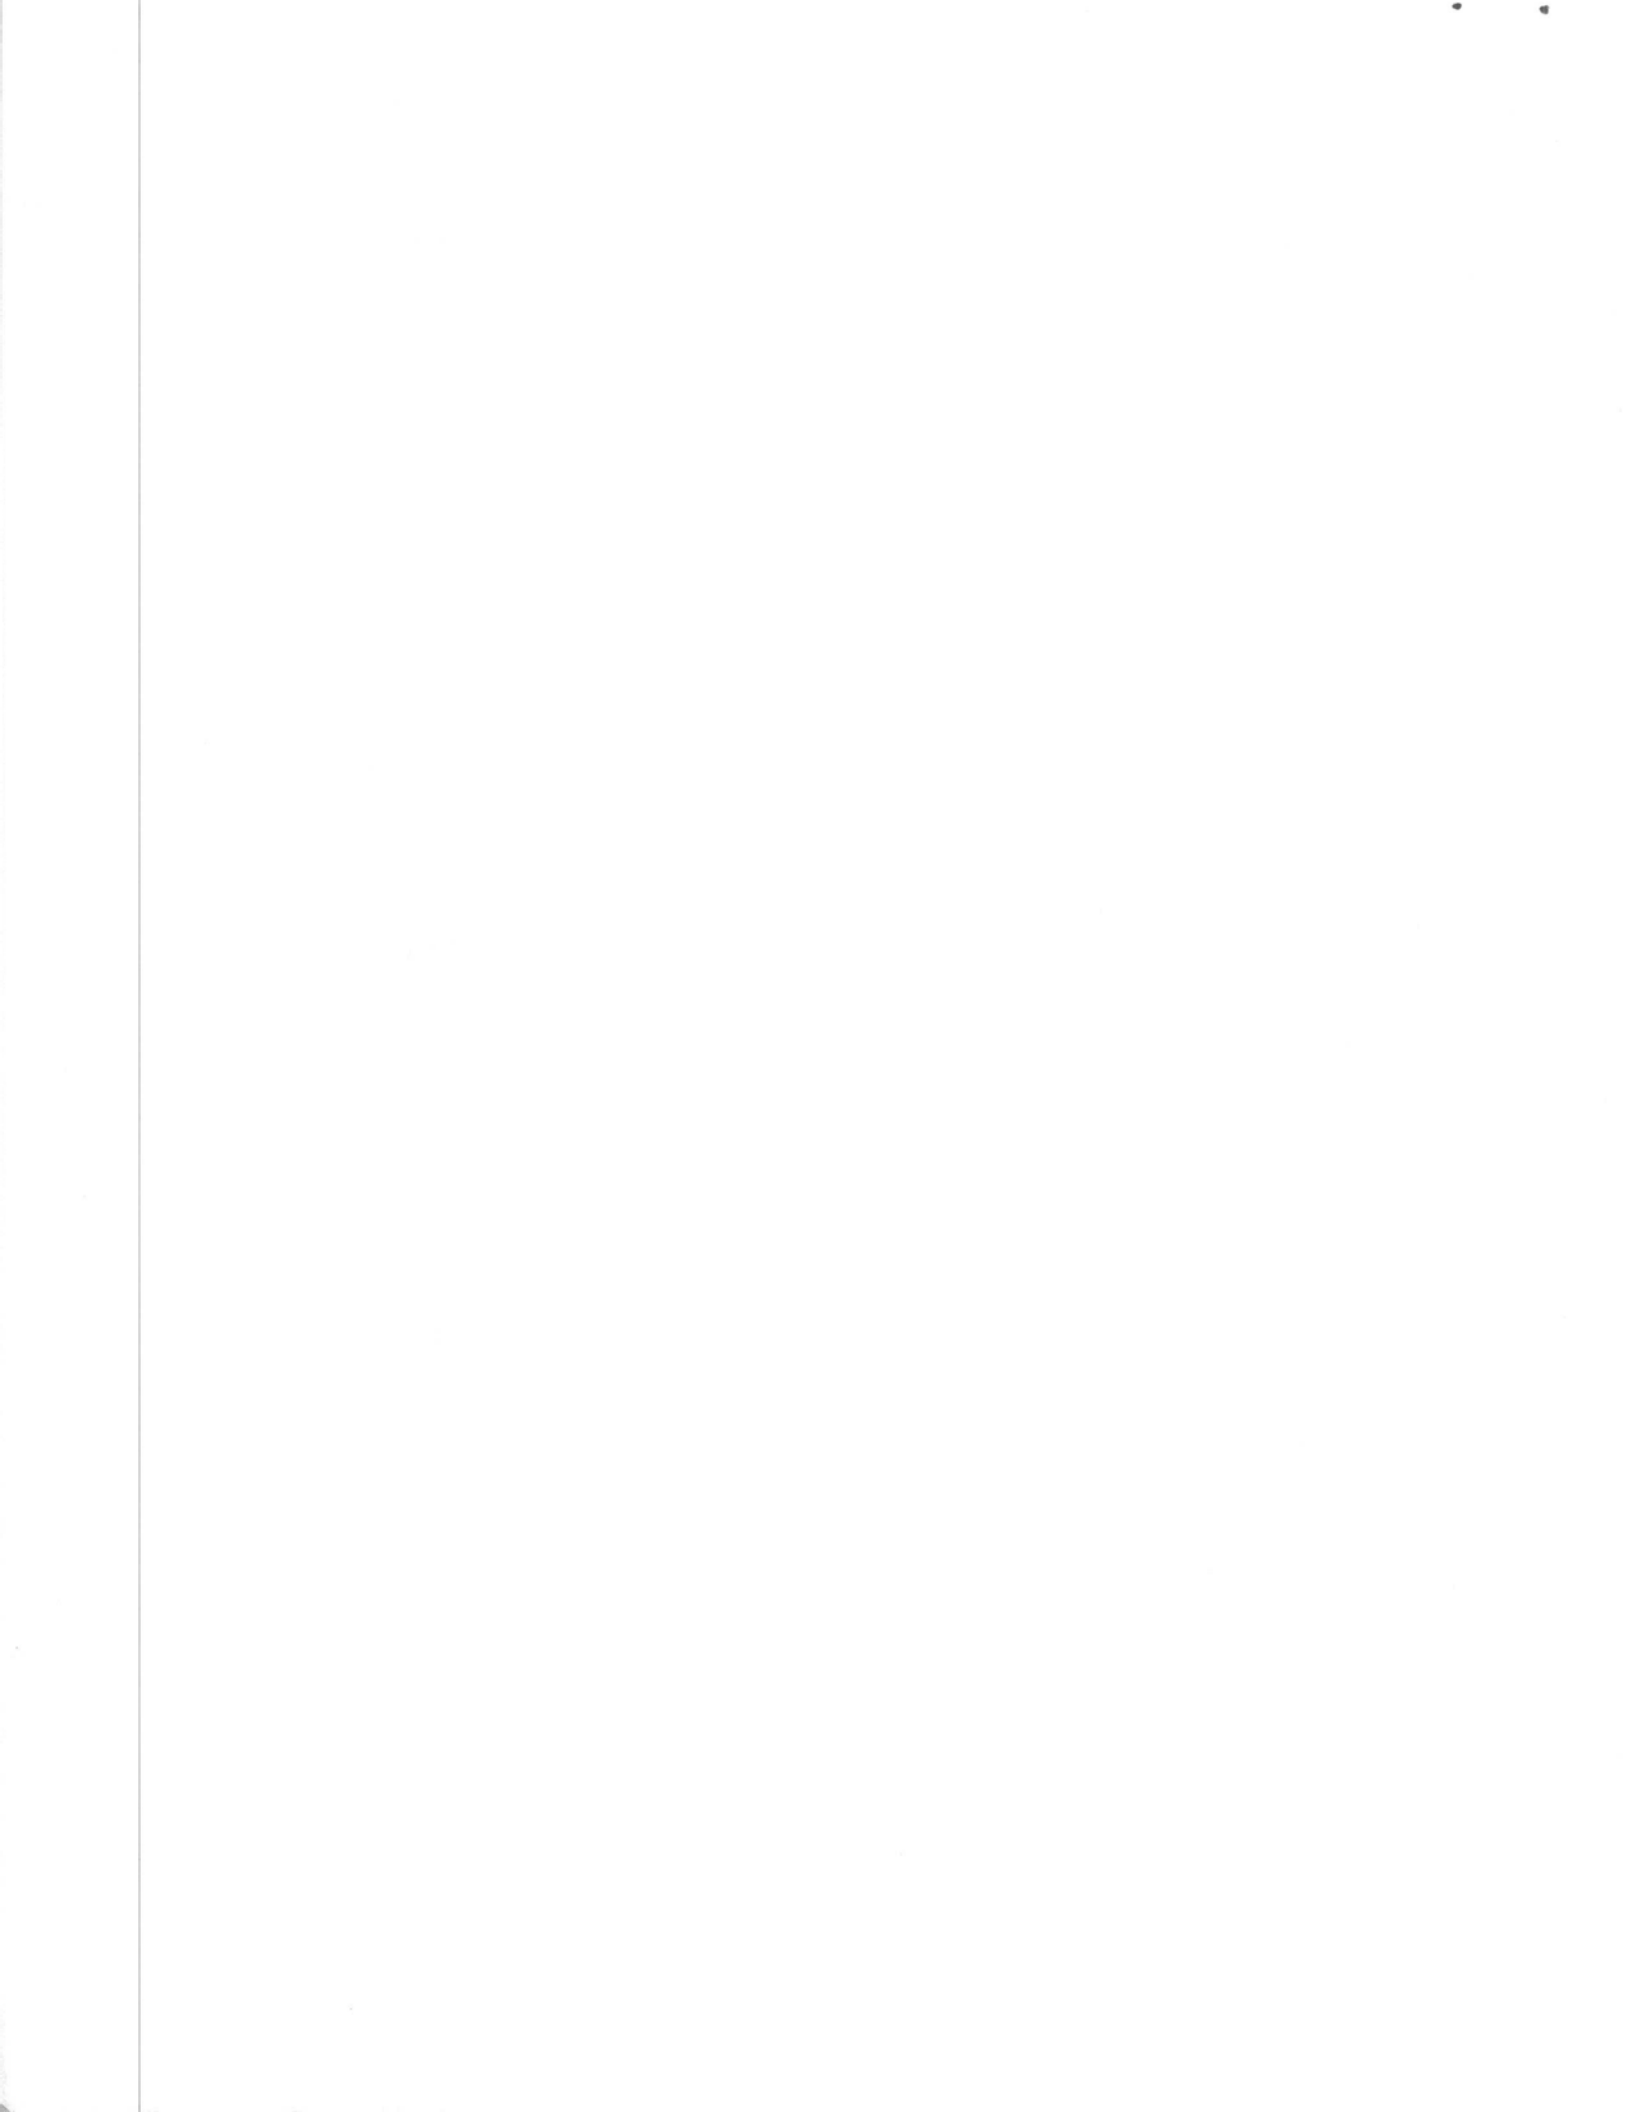

S17

Jean-Guy Dalpe reports another new perfin. He has located U.S. perfin #S215 on a Canada #107a. S9 in the Canadian Handbook is similar but a bit larger. The new perfin will be S17. The identification for the user in the U.S. Perfin Catalogue is Southern Pacific Railway, San Francisco, Calif. (Ed - the photo is from the U.S. Catalogue.)

Suppliment to the Report on N6 (see Feb. 1982)

Further to Don Fraser's report on N6 and N7 with possible identifications for each in Winnipeg. David Izzett reports a copy of N6 on Canada #90 with the partial CDS cancel as depicted below. This cancel points strongly to the origin of the N6 perfin being in Winnipeg. Working with Winnipeg as a tentative location of the perforator, from Don's work Nares, Robinson, Black become a tentative identification of the user.

One last questionnaire. Would you please send to Jon Johnson a list of the numbers that relate to the four questions below. These numbers will give us some idea of the overall size and scope of the collections which comprise the results which will form the basis of the revised Handbook. Please answer the first question accurately and the balance as accurately as possible without spending hours coming up with the answer, unless you want the precise answer yourself.

1. Number of Perfin Types in your collection.
2. Number of different Issues in your whole collection.
3. Number of Positions in your collection.
4. Total number of perfins in your collection, including duplicates.

There has been several attempts to give a simple definition of a Double Perfin. Due to different attitudes as to what is a collectable double no simple definition could be arrived at. So here is an attempt to simply identify different doubles, and everyone can collect what interests them. Anyone who notes a major error in the explanation is requested to write to Jon Johnson identifying the error.

Definition: A double perfin is where one stamp has been through two or more perforating operations.

Perfect Double - is where two perforating operations are so close that each hole cuts itself on the second operation.

Overlap Double - is where the shape of the second perforation overlaps with the shape of the first. Draw a line through the holes of the combined initials until you return to where you started.

Non-overlap greater than 1 - is where two operations are found in a stamp. The shape of the perforations do not overlap and the total number of holes is greater in the stamp than in one complete die.

Non-overlap less than 1 - is where two operations are found in a stamp. The shape of the perforations do not overlap and the total number of holes is less in the stamp than in one complete die.

Multi-position Double - is where two perforating operations result in two different positions in the same stamp. As this is a special case it includes all of Overlap double, Non-overlap Double greater than 1 and Non-overlap Double less than 1 providing there is more than one position.

All of the above can be continued on to Triples, Quads, etc. and all of the possible combinations of each. Those can be calculated by simply applying the above rules and listing the name starting from one die of your choosing.
