CONSIGNEES' LETTERS

Some months ago, Jack Arnell kindly sent me a collection of notes and photocopies, principally in connection with consignees' letters - I wanted to keep them together rather than use them piecemeal, as I see this as a little-known area. This is the first opportunity that I have had to devote an entire Newsletter to the subject.

My ignorance of this subject was absolute, so with the addition of a colour illustration, searches through Alan Robertson's 'Maritime Postal History of the British Isles', and various Post Office publications, all of which proved largely nugatory, I have quoted Jack Arnell at length - pretty much all the words are his.

The more observant will have noticed that the 'colour illustration' has no connection whatsoever with the main subject, but I do not have a consignee's letter to use ... The letter above was carried, apparently without any United Kingdom prepayment of postage, by the ship 'Atlantic', from Liverpool to New York. The ship sailed on 30th May 1819, and the ship's master, W. Matlock, marked the letter accordingly, using his personal handstamp. I understand that Mr Matlock was one of two ships' masters on the Atlantic routes who used a private handstamp (other examples would be welcome). 'Atlantic' made New York on 3rd July, and the letter was handed to the post office as a ship letter, to be charged 20<sup>3</sup>/<sub>4</sub> cents: 2 cents ship letter fee and 18<sup>3</sup>/<sub>4</sub> cents United States postage, the rate for 150-400 miles (U.S. Act 1825). In Canada, the letter was charged '1/7' (Currency), being 1s 1d for the 20<sup>3</sup>/<sub>4</sub> cents United States postage carried forward (computed at 1c = 0.6d Cy, rounded-up), and 6d Currency British Colonial postage, the 'all-up' rate from the Border to Montreal.

1832-45, letters 4mm.

1841-55, letters 5mm.

1859, letters 4mm.

Of 'Exempt Ship Letters' I have very little information, and will quote from Robertson's 'Maritime Postal History': 'No concessions were granted in respect of letters carried within the kingdom, but with the development of overseas trade in the early 18th Century, it was conceded and enacted in 1710 (9 Anne, 1710, Cap. 10) that "Letters of Merchants and Master Owners of any Ships, Barques or Vessels of Merchandise, or any cargo of Lading therein on board such Ships, whereof such Merchants or Masters are Owners, delivered by any such Masters on any such Ships, or by any other persons employed by them, for the carriage of such Letters by their respective Directions, such letters to be delivered to the respective persons to who they shall be directed, without paying or receiving any hire or reward, advantage or profit for the same in any wise."

A few years later the following proviso was added: "Proviso for Merchants. By Stat. 6 Geo. I. c. 21. f. 52. This Proviso is confined to Merchants' Accounts, etc, not exceeding one sheet of paper, and all Bills of Exchange, Invoices and Bills of Lading, are and shall hereby be understood to be allowed without Rate in the price of Letters; and likewise the Covers of Letters not exceeding one fourth part of a sheet of paper, shall be understood to be allowed to pass without rate or payment for the same." This practice of "exemption" was therefore one of very long standing. Subsequent Acts confirmed and modified the maximum total weight of letters exempt from ship letter charge sent by Owners, Charterers or Consignees. The Consignees name had to appear on the ship's manifest, proving that he had goods aboard the vessel carrying his letters. Prior to the 1830s no

GB "Exempt Ship Letter" handstamps have been recorded on incoming ship letters. A single example, found on an outbound letter, is recorded over the letter-join on the back of a letter sent to the Cape of Good Hope from London in 1814 (Robertson's footnote states: 'This type of crown, etc, indicates that this was doubtless a Cape handstamp'). The known handstamps appear to have been used at the London Ship Letter Office only until 1840, when a "LIVERPOOL EXEMPT SHIP LETTER" handstamp was issued to that port. At other ports of entry, the manuscript endorsement "Consignee's Letter" (supported by the entry in the ship's manifest) appears to have sufficed. The handstamps are scarce.'

Robertson shows no examples from or to British North America, and only one from the United States: a letter carried by the 'Stephen Whitney' in 1847, which may have originated in New York. It was charged threepence. I have borrowed (Figure 2) his illustration of a letter from Barbuda dated 11th March 1833, to Doddington viâ Hastings and London: "Per Kingston. T.W. Pearson, Master. Sailed 18th March." Inland charge only (the letter is from the Codrington correspondence (JW432) and Robson Lowe is acknowledged).

Letters from Fielding Brothers & Company and from Gibbs Bright, both of Liverpool, dated 6th 1844, with bills of lading relating to shipments on the 'Aukland'. As such, the letters were marked 'Consignee' and were permitted to be carried by the ship's captain along with the cargo, without any charge for delivery. No charges have been raised at Ouebec.

CONSIGNEE'S LETTERS 1849/50 & 1854

A letter and invoice from Momson and Dillon, London, dated 24th August 1849 for: 'One package #440# shipped per the 'Pearl', Chalmers, Consigned to the addressee, representing Customs, Freight, Insurance, etc, at £9 8s 6d'. It reached Montreal on 20th May 1850, and was rated one penny postage as a Consignee's Letter accompanying the shipment. The delay was presumably associated with the St. Lawrence freeze-up.

Arthur Linley Co., Liverpool, letter with lamps and gas fittings to David Billhouse, Montreal, for Toronto; carried by the 'Charity' (Canadian Steam Navigation Co.), from Liverpool, 15th September 1854, to Quebec on 2nd October. The letter has a Toronto arrival mark of 7th October 1854; it travelled post-free to Montreal, as a Consignee's Letter, but was then charged threepence Currency, the inland postage established on 6th July 1851.

Part of a notice from H. Gould, London, dated 23rd February 1858, with the invoice for a prismatic compass valued at £5. 5s. Struck with the '1<sup>d</sup>' when mailed to show the British debit. Carried by 'Canada' from Liverpool on 27th February, arriving Boston on 12th March 1858, it was passed to Montreal in the closed bag, arriving there the following day, to be charged '2½d' Currency postage due. It was used to clear the compass through customs, and has a customs datestamp of 13th March, and a 'FREE' (with initials) inside.

Envelope marked 'Consignee Per ss St. David'. This steamer was commissioned in 1864 for the Glasgow-Quebec service, carrying passengers and freight, but no regular mail. The letter was mailed at Quebec on 4th November 1865, and struck 'FREE', as it was directed to an official. Re-addressed to Ottawa and dated on the reverse at Montreal the following day.

CONSIGNEES LETTERS - 1861 & 1868

Two notices of shipment, the first of clay retorts with a bill of lading and invoice from Gillespie Borthwick & Co., on the 'Samuel Boddington', the second for 13½ tons of fire clay in 100lb bags, from John Ferguson, on the 'Saint Devenick'.

Both letters were mailed on arrival in Montreal, on 12th June 1861 and 14th August 1868 respectively; being unpaid, they were rated at seven cents and five cents postage due. They bear Toronto arrival marks each on the day following dispatch.

THE NEXT NEWSLETTERS

My apologies for the delay in publishing this edition of the Newsletter - I have no excuse, this delay was entirely due to me allowing myself to become distracted into preparing parts of my own collection for a couple of club presentations I had promised. I will be more punctual in future! The next issue will be used to cover a number of letters which have been sent to me, but which do not neessarily fit into any particular category.

In April/May I will return to registered mail, including 20th Century material, then the second part of the 'soldiers' letters'. In the summer I will devote some space to late fees, printed papers and newspapers (the last of these categories will need some assistance - I have very little in this area). Towards the end of the year I would like to look at the Maritime Provinces, perhaps interspersed with some modern material. Your suggestions would be very welcome.
