BNAPEX'85

The BNAPEX'85 organizers have indicated that the meeting of the Postal Stationery Study Group at BNAPEX this year will be on Friday September 13th at 11:15 a.m. in the Waterton Room of the Westin Hotel in Calgary. The regular meeting will begin with a short seminar "The Advantages of Collecting Stationery Instead of Stamps". This talk will be publicized in the BNAPEX package along with the meeting, and is designed to show those collectors who collect only adhesives the error of their ways. We will then diverge into our more usual detailed discussions of stationery. More information will appear in the next issue of PSN.

VARIETIES OF NEWFOUNDLAND FORMULA REGISTERED ENVELOPES

As most Newfoundland collectors know, Newfoundland issued formula registered envelopes. These are unstamped and required postage, but many stationery collectors still include them with other Newfoundland stationery. There are four sizes each labelled A, B, C or D, with A the smallest and D the largest. Aside from paper stock differences - and there certainly are some - there are two fundamentally different types. In my experience, the commoner type has a rounded flap with a printer's imprint underneath it. This certainly exists in all four sizes. The less common type in my experience has a "square" flap without printer's imprint beneath it, and shows a different typeface. I have found this, to date, only on sizes A and B.

flap type 2

It would be very worthwhile to know what members have - first to determine through photocopies the possible existence of sizes C and D in the second type, and second to establish ERPs for the different sizes and knives

Postal Stationery Notes is the newsletter of the BNAPS Postal Stationery Study Group, and is co-edited by Earle Covert and Robert Lemire. All information for the newsletter, and correspondence about the study group, should be addressed to Robert Lemire, Box 549, Pinawa, Man., Canada ROE 1LO.

(photocopies of the fronts and backs of the envelopes will be necessary). Used copies of these envelopes are not too common, so even photocopies of "ratty" envelopes will be potentially useful. Photocopies should be sent to Bill Walton, 125 Turtleback Rd., Califon, NJ 07830, or c/o the editor of PSN at the address given on the front page of the newsletter.

CANADIAN PACIFIC - A REVISED LIST OF ADVICE CARDS

Editor's Note: In PSN Vol. 1, (pg. 15, 37) Dick Staecker presented a listing of the postal cards used by Dominion Express Company. He later followed with listings of the Canadian Pacific Express cards. Dick has now prepared updated lists, and these will be published in the next few issues of the newsletter.

Canadian Pacific Ltd., one of Canada's largest companies, used a large variety of postal cards. These were prepared for the Canadian Pacific Railway Company or its subsidiary Dominion Express Company (later Canadian Pacific Express Company). Regular business postal cards, special order multiple forms and sheets of cards (4-on) rouletted between were used for freight advice, financial statements or company information in general.

These cards will be listed in three main sections:

- 1) Dominion Express Company
- 2) Canadian Pacific Express Company
- 3) Canadian Pacific Railway Company

1) DOMINION EXPRESS COMPANY

Dominion Express Company was incorporated in 1882 with stock held by the C.P.R. On September 1, 1926 the name was changed to Canadian Pacific Express Company. Early postal cards used by Dominion Express Company had the freight advice and other company information printed on the back only, since no writing or printing other than the address was permitted on the front of a card. Such information is known on the back of postal cards with Webb catalogue numbers P7, P13 and P17. However, these cards are not listed here. My main objective is to list all the cards with company identification on the front, and, particularly, to note cards that differ in some way in the printing on the front of the cards.

The printing on the front of each card consists of a picture of a money order, a logo or a company heading (types A - G, pg. 21,22) plus an advertisement (types 1 - 23, pg. 22-24). Cards with the same Webb number that differ in either of these two parts have been given a major listing, denoted 1), 2), 3) etc. Cards which are the same except for the form numbers or messages on the backs are denoted a), b), c) etc. Where only small differences have been noted in the printing on the back of a particular item, the number of known varieties is reported in parentheses, in italics.

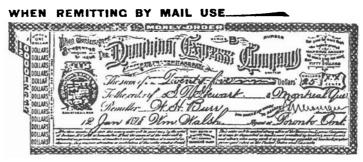

Two different form numbers were used for specific purposes.

Form 161: These cards were used to inform the consignee that the shipment was at the express office to be picked up.

Form 186: These cards were used to inform the shipper that the article had not been picked up at the express office, and to ask for further instructions.

The use of these same form numbers was continued when the company changed its name to the Canadian Pacific Express Co. The use of rouletted cards was started in 1925 by Dominion Express and was also continued by Canadian Pacific Express.

COMMENTS ON THE FLAWS SHOWN IN THE LAST PSN

The 1¢ die on Webb EN40a

This is a typographed die where the most "trustworthy" flaws are those in white (on a raised printing surface a hair or any piece of scrap will print in colour). This particular item, however, has always struck me as a genuine flaw, perhaps resulting from a distortion of the innermost frame line of this particular working die. As correctly noted, this flaw is commonly found (although I have not seen it on the #8 envelope, EN40), and many of our members can probably examine a copy of this and decide for themselves.

On the 2¢ UPU card, Webb P4

The photocopy unfortunately eliminates the portion of the card that should make identification of the plate position easy. In addition, the magnification, while making the flaw easy to see, also blurs the detail. (Editor's note: Both problems are my fault. Colin Campbell sent me a photocopy that showed a much larger portion of the card. The copy was cut down to fit on the page more easily. The distortion occurred in the use of the paper-plate process to print the newsletter.) However, this card is probably plate 1, position 10, - the bottom right card on the sheet, or the bottom left on the plate. If so, it is a flaw that was not originally present on the plate, but appeared after the plate had been in use for some years.

Bill Walton

More on the flaw on P4

Jim Webb notes that he has found 14 copies of the card with the flaw after looking at about 200 P4's, and that all copies are on a thick card stock. He also mentions that your editor gave the wrong location of the flaw in the text. The flaw is, of course, at the upper right.

TALKS ON BNA STATIONERY

Occasionally study group members get an opportunity to spread the word on the joys of collecting BNA stationery.

Jack Robb, one of our Vancouver members, presented a seminar on "Prestamped Post Cards of the Centennial Period" at PIPEX in early June.

Horace Harrison (accompanied by his new wife) was at the Collectors Club in New York in May and gave a talk on BNA Postal Stationery. He also showed many outstanding items from his large collection.

AN UNLISTED RAILWAY VIEW CARD

Allan Steinhart has reported a previously unlisted railway view card for the Pontiac Pacific Junction Railway. The view on P18 shows a "Scene on the Upper Ottawa". P.P.J. Railway". The card is postmarked Nov. 26, 1903.
