CHIARMAN'S NOTES

We are still having great stamping weather here in Newfoundland, cold, damp and foggy. Not that weather has anything to do with stamps here. Our local Newfoundland study group meets every second Wednesday, at one of our homes. We still miss our good friend Frank Rowe, who always brought "sum shockin' gud" items and commentary to our meetings. Remember, any members changing addresses, please inform me of the change.

Good Stamping, John Butt

The rather bedraggled sheet of fifty above was uncovered after an 11-year chain of events. The printer's red trial proof sheet of fifty, which the Xerox reflects is the third known, prepared during the 1897 postal shortage for overprinting the 1890 3¢ Queen Victoria issue. Robert Pratt thought there were only two.

After thirty years of collecting United States issues, and then Canada, I decided in 1983 to collect a "new" country. Long intrigued by the catalogue photos of Newfoundland issues, including the Trail of the Caribou set, I decided this was my new country. Since then Newfoundland issues have been my philatelic focus.

In January of 1985, an attorney representing a very elderly lady, came to stamp dealer Don Curran of Pacific Stamp Exchange, in Novato, California, with a collection for sale by private treaty. The attorney told Curran that his client, Martha Krippner, under care in a facility in nearby San Rafael (just north of San Francisco), was the daughter of the man who "wrote the Newfoundland national anthem." Curran bought the collection.

In the collection Curran found a Newfoundland cover with the three 1897 provisionals overprinted in red. He also found two used singles in red of the Type II provisional. He sent all three items to B.P.A. In September of 1985, B.P.A. declared the material "forged."

NEWSLETTER

Mav/June 1995

In October of 1986, Robert Pratt wrote a lengthy article on the 1890 issue and the provisionals (Newfoundland-The Gray 1890 Three Cent - Ten Years of Turmoil). It appeared in the journal of the Fifty Second American Philatelic Congress. Pratt described the existence of several proof sheets of the overprint in red on buff paper. He relied on 1923-24 correspondence from "..E.R. Krippner, a music teacher and composer of the Newfoundland 'national' anthem, and his son, L.L." The Krippners appeared to have cornered the market on proof material surrounding the first provisionals. Of the two red sheets the Krippners refer to, Pratt owned one as of the 1986 writing but didn't know where the other was. There was a photo of his sheet. Pratt also cited other authorities who claimed a number of red provisionals were used on cover by postal officials.

In 1988 or 89, I purchased the "forged" cover from Curran for a song, after he told me about the bad certificate. He also said something about the material coming from someone who wrote the Newfoundland national anthem. Sometime later, I purchased the two proof singles. In late 1992, after a plea for information on the Royal Family issue in a stamp periodical, I started writing to John Walsh of NSSC. One letter led to others and I decided to sell him the questionable cover (subsequently pictured in Newfie Newletter #44, September-October, 1993). John felt the cover might be genuine. Later that year, he sent me a copy of the 1986 Pratt article. The provisionals on the cover and the two singles were so close in appearance, I started wondering whether the singles were genuine.

In mid 1993, I wrote to Ed Wener of INDIGO in New Zealand sending him the two singles. Wener still thought the singles were forged but made a nice offer to add them to his forgery collection. I decided not to sell.

Later that year a collector in France sent Wener a fullsize Xerox of the red proof sheet, stating he just bought it in a large collection of sheets. Wener thought the price too dear, but sent me a Xerox of the Xerox. He suggested I might want to match my singles against the sheet. They plated, at positions #42 & 43. The third provisional, on a Xeroxed copy of the cover I had sold to Walsh also seemed to plate at position #50. Although the sheet matched all the characteristics of Pratt's photographed (and reduced) sheet, there was more margin at the left and bottom. This looked like the other sheet of which Pratt had written.

In 1994 I started preparing an article targeted for BNA Topics on the 1897 postal shortage and the first provisionals. This would include types, usage dates, etc. (See references to this in Newfie Newsletters #48 & 51). I decided to deal briefly with the I also decided to follow-up with Don Curran, red trials. regarding his reference to the person who wrote the anthem coupled with the Pratt article Walsh sent me in 1993. Ultimately I found out from Curran that the lady's name was Martha Krippner, a daughter of E.R. Krippner. I told Curran of my research and article and in November of last year, he called me to tell me of an unusual item from the Krippner collection he had in storage since 1985, not knowing what it was. It turned out to be the Fage 9 proof sheet pictured.

The characteristics of the third sheet match Pratt's and the Xerox sent me by Wener, but (again) with different margins. From upper left to lower right, the design on the Wener Xerox measures 99% the same as my sheet. Measurements of individual cliches are identical, as are bar breaks, etc. It is on buff paper, as described by Pratt, but with a few margin tears. I have a feeling that my sheet may not be in as good condition as the other two. Is this why the elder Krippner set it aside (latter passing it on to his daughter), as he couldn't get the price he wanted? Remember, Krippner was the source of information on these sheets - who knows how many were actually saved. I have sent a color Xerox of the newly discovered sheet to Walsh, as I now firmly believe the cover and my two singles are genuine since they plate so well to the sheet. One wonders what B.P.A. was using in order to plate/compare this material when Curran originally sent it for certificates in 1985?

As a footnote, I recently called several Krippner families in Northern California, to see if they knew Martha. So far, I have had no luck. I assume she died in San Rafael in the 1980's. Any help with that search would be appreciated. Send any information to the editor, John Butt, please.
